

Morteza Taiebat is a Dow Doctoral Sustainability Fellow at the University of Michigan. His research is focused on assessing the environmental and energy implications of connected and automated vehicles and investigating the policy mechanisms that promote sustainable adoption of this technology.