

2018 ACEEE Finance Forum Co-Chair

Anmol Vanamali
Financing Strategies Director
Vermont Energy Investment Corporation

Anmol Vanamali has a diverse professional and educational background spanning various geographies and sectors. Currently, as the Financing Strategies Director with the Vermont Energy Investment Corporation (VEIC) he is responsible for designing and implementing financial mechanisms for facilitating investments in energy efficiency and renewable energy projects across USA. He is also, currently, a Senior Fellow in the Climate and Energy program of the Worldwatch Institute, a leading global think tank that works to accelerate the transition to a sustainable world. In this role he has blogged on the issues of sustainable energy, waste management and the evolution of utilities. He is also a Fellow of the Emerging Leaders in Environmental and Energy Policy Network (ELEEP), a joint project of the Ecologic Institute and the Atlantic Council.

Prior to VEIC, he was the Director of Finance & Policy Analysis at the Center for Clean Air Policy (CCAP) and was a leading voice in areas of climate finance and clean energy. In this role he led multiple complex advisory assignments in Asia and South America, published many well-regarded papers and contributed to leading global affairs magazines and newspapers on similar topics. He brings with himself immense knowledge of public-private partnership (P3) projects and renewable energy investments based on his roles at Gammon Infrastructure Projects Limited in Mumbai and the Macquarie Group in New York, respectively.

He has a Bachelor of Sciences degree from PSG College of technology (Coimbatore), Masters in Business Administration from Sydenham Institute of Management (Mumbai) and Masters in International Affairs from the School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University (New York).
